Driven & Empathic Thinking Types

Thinking Type: Displays only Psora, Driven and Empathic Types are modified from this core structure by the addition of Lacunae and the presence of Neurogenic fibres.

Driven Thinker: Psora and Lacunae combination but with more Psora present than Lacunae. Psora are about 4 times more potent than a single Lacunae.

Empathic Thinker: Neurogenic Fibres in combination with Psora.

Zones

Here is a good example of Psora being situated in all three Zones.

Advance to the next slide, and note the distribution of each Psora in each coloured portion of the iris.

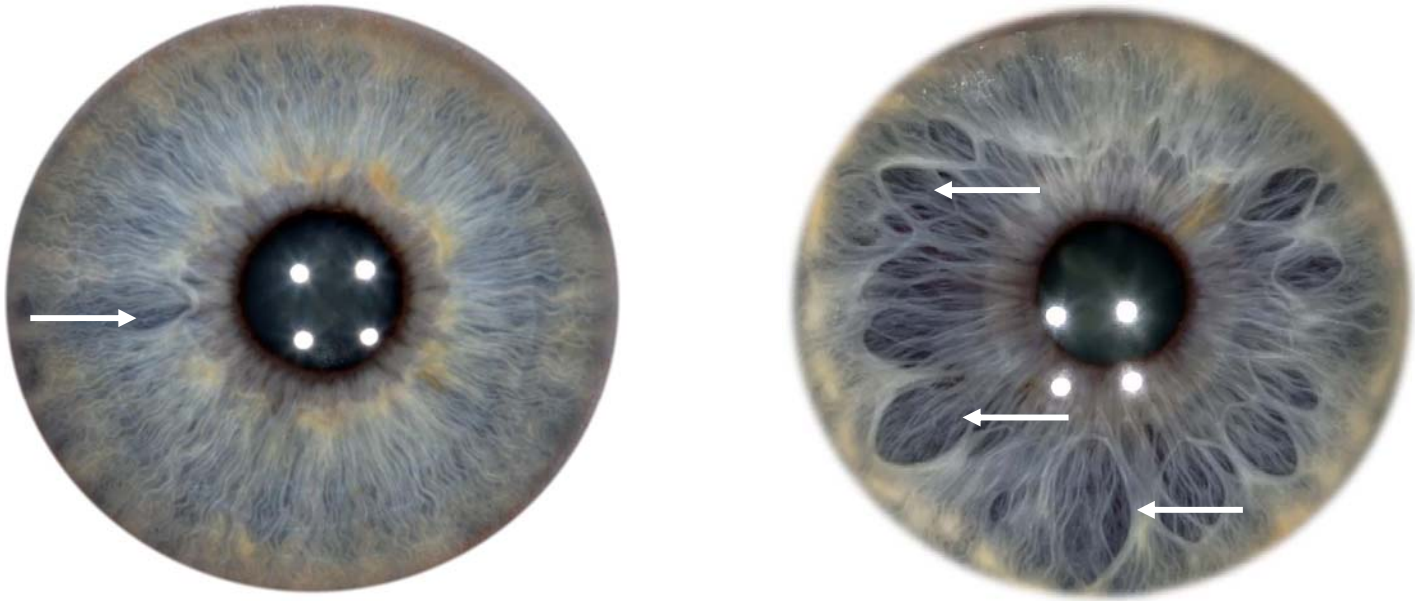
Quantity of Structure



In the above examples, the iris on the left displays a single Lacunae or Rarefaction. The iris on the right displays a greater number of Lacunae in many positions. A single Lacunae will produce a much greater amplification and experience of the lesson in its position, whereas lessons from the Lacunae type appearing in the iris on the right will be less intense because of the sheer amount of positions being stimulated. These are single iris slides taken from two different individuals.

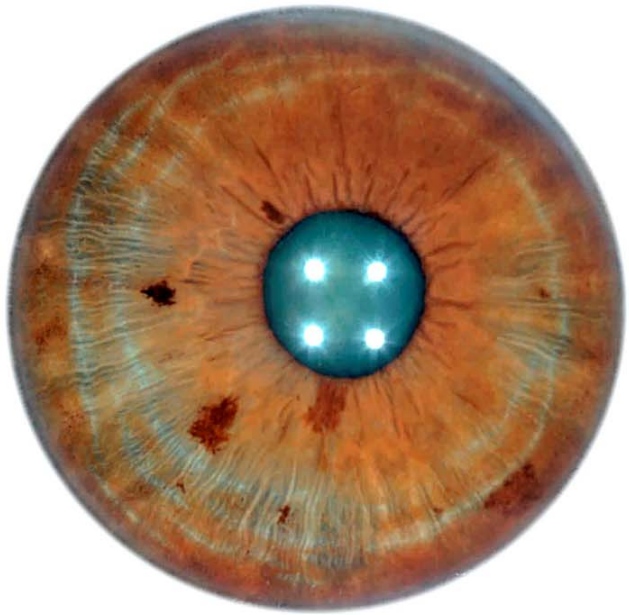
Right Eye



Left brain

Right Brain

Notice more structure and Psora / color in the right eye. At a core level this structure is a Thinking Type needing to express and expand into the right brain for long term balance. Having a strong Neurogenic fibre pattern softens the character of this person away from the over analytical creating a more emotional disposition but remember, at a core level they are still a Thinking Type.
